Provincial President J. Kobolak presents Minden Branch president Tony Samarillo with the Branch 636 Charter during Saturday's charter night.

Charter night in Minden

More than 400 people were at the Minden Community Centre on Saturday night to see the birth of the newest branch of the Royal Canadian Legion - Branch 636, Minden.

Saturday's presentation of the branch charter was the culmination of more than a year's work on behalf of the executive and members of the new Legion branch.

In presenting the charter to branch president Tony Samarillo, Provincial President J. Kobolak praised the local members for their "faith in the future of the Legion." The Legion is the largest service club in Canada, serving a tremendous number of people.

he said. It addresses the needs of veterans by promoting programs and legislation to help them. It helps youth through sponsorship of athletic teams, as well as the cadets, scouts and cubs. The Legion works to help the elderly by helping to establish seniors' accommodations.

"The Legion has a long and distinguished record of service to all the people," he said. He congratulated Minden on becoming a "unit of the great organization."

The large crowd gathered for the Charter Night is evidence of Minden's desire to have its own legion, said

Landfill woes county-wide

With many landfill sites across Haliburton County nearing capacity, county council should be taking a hard look at what directions should be investigated for future waste management, Environment Committee Chairman Don Shortreed said Wednesday.

Waste management is a concern shared by all municipalities, said Shortreed. "We're all in the same boat." He said the situation is growing each day and within the next five or six years it will be very serious.

A few years ago, the county completed a study which identified a number of potential locations for landfill sites. However, there has been no action taken since the study was completed.

of the present landfill sites and the length of time it takes to develop new ones - in some cases as long as ten years - council will have to start thinking more seriously about it, said Shortreed.

"Costwise, it's going to be astronomical," he said. Individual municipalities have looked into the price of containerized services and found them to be very high, he said.

Warden Murray Fearrey agreed it should be addressed more seriously by the county. He suggested it be dealt with by the Environment Committee and recommendations be brought back to council.

"It's there," said Fearrey. "We've all got a problem with it whether we like it or

County picks up railway option

In spite of potential liability problems, Haliburton County Council voted Wednesday to purchase the abandoned CNR line which runs between Kinmount and Haliburton Village.

While cautioning council of the potential for liability claims against the county should it decide to purchase the 21-mile right of way, Warden Murray Fearrey was also urging council to approve the purchase. The stated price is $31,000.

Owning the former railway property would be no different from a liability standpoint than owning an abandoned roadway, said Fearrey. He said the county would have to lay down some guidelines regarding usage, take out one dangerous bridge and upgrade some others. He also noted that CNR has owned the abandoned property for a number of years with no liability claims laid against it.

Under CNR property sales guidelines, the province has the first right to refusal of any property. The county has the second chance to buy, and then the municipalities. Finally, if no government body is interested, it would be offered for sale to the adjoining property owners.

Although Fearrey said Victoria - Haliburton MPP John Eakins had expressed an interest in the recreational use of the corridor, the province is not interested in buying the land. He said the county has had the option to purchase for more than 10 months now. "CNR can't be expected to have it tied up forever."

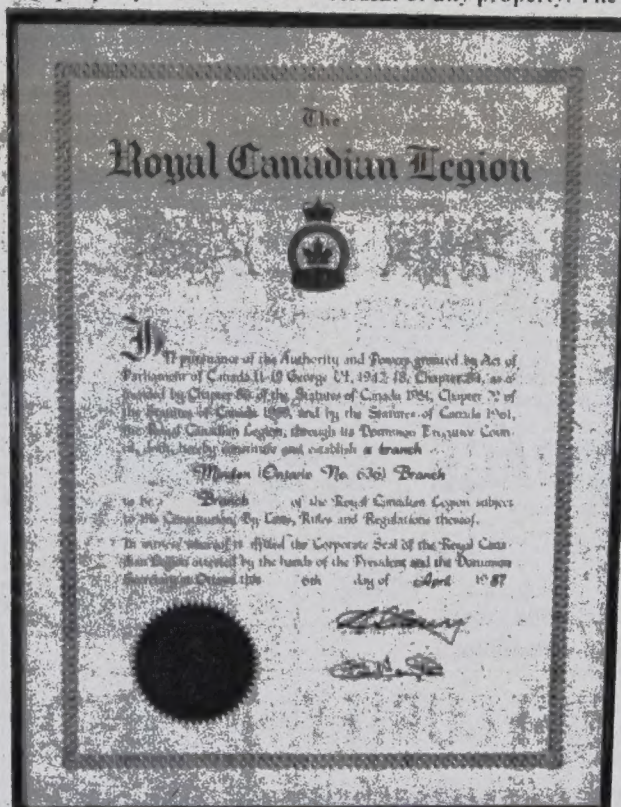

Councillor R. McCausland from Glamorgan Township said he is very much in favour of the purchase. "The county's really stupid not to buy," said McCausland, recalling his township's regret at not buying the former IBMO line when it had the opportunity.

Anson, Hindon and Minden Deputy Reeve Bern Berry once again raised the issue of liability, asking how the purchase might affect the county's insurance rates. Fearrey replied that it all depends on the county's approach. If it were to be advertised as a public recreational trail, the costs would likely go up, he said. He recommended that only specific persons with signed agreements should be allowed to use it legally. "It could be a nightmare if it wasn't handled legally," he admitted.

With the property running through Snowdon, Glamorgan and Dysart Townships, Councillor Don Shortreed asked what benefits the purchase would have for the residents of Sherbourne, McClintock et al. "I'm for it myself, but I feel there are more benefits for the individual municipalities to buy it," he said.

To this, councillor M. Peters from Cardiff said it would be much like the Haliburton Hospital expansion project. He said that not all areas of the county will benefit from it, but it is still a county project.

The final vote on the motion showed only councillors Shortreed and Dalton McDonald opposing the purchase.

Fund tops target

The Haliburton Hospital Expansion fund has topped the $240,000 target set initially for the public fund raising effort. The plateau was reached earlier this month, the time set by the committee for the money to be raised.

According to the fund raising chairman, Barb Dawson, the fund now stands at $243,000, with a number of major commitments still to be received.

The committee decided at its August meeting to proceed with plans to build a full basement under the new $100,000 extra cost is, at the moment, to be raised entirely in the public sector.

Mrs. Dawson said there may be some government assistance available for this extra construction, however, the committee undertook the additional work on the understanding that the entire construction cost would have to be raised locally. "The members of the committee felt sure they could raise the money," Mrs. Dawson commented, "and so they gave the go-ahead for the work."

provide additional space for the new medical facility, allowing an area for expansion on or the addition of new services. A portion of the new space could be rented as well.

The expansion fund received an $800 donation this past week from the employees of Ontario Hydro, Minden office. Minden area co-ordinator for the fund, Bill Kulas, accepted the cheque from the group on Friday. The money had been collected over the past few months and helped boost the fund over the $240,000 target.

Boats cause river erosion

New speed signs are to be posted along the Gull River after Anson, Hindon and Minden Townships council heard complaints of the quick erosion of the banks at the September 10 meeting.

The number of boats speeding along the river is worse than ever, said Councillor Verne Graham. He said there are no signs and boaters are showing a disregard for the accepted speed limits. Whenever a boat passes by, "great fountains of water reach right over the banks."

The topic was raised by Edith Smith, from the Minden Pines. She approached council with a request to purchase more land since erosion has taken away a chunk of her property along the river bank.

Smith said erosion of the river bank is a growing problem, and this was the worst year ever.

In response to her request to purchase a 66-foot shoreline allowance, Graham said he believed she already owned the property. Smith responded that she has had several lawyers look into the matter over the years, who told her to consult with the township solicitor. She said she has not been able to get a response from Fraser Rogers.

After Smith left the council chambers, Reeve Sinc Nesbitt questioned whether the transaction was ever properly put through. He said the shoreline allowance may or may not be Smith's property. According to the registry office, it is not, he said.

Minden to expand water supply

The following business was dealt with at the September 10 meeting of Anson, Hindon and Minden Townships Council:

Water study

Totten, Simms and Hubicki consulting firm will be authorized to conduct a study to determine how much extra water capacity can be gained if the township taps into an existing well on The Times property.

Times Publisher Jack Brezina was on hand at the meeting to address questions from council. Although he said he has not been able to put a dollar value on the small piece of property, he said he is willing to sell it to the township.

Councillor Bob Sisson noted that the consultants' study would indicate what the property is worth. However, he said the township was not willing to spend the $1,000 for the study until it was sure the property would be available.

The well, which had been used by a laundromat located in the present Times building, is said to be ideal because of its relative location to the present township well. Minden needs to expand its water capacity because of growth in the township.

Gull River bridge

In an attempt to improve the traffic flow at the Gull

River bridge, Anson, Hindon and Minden Townships Council will be moving to close off the Orde Street entrance.

Introducing the motion to begin proceedings, Reeve Sinc Nesbitt said, "If we're going to make the bridge safe... the only way to make it safe is to close off the traffic to it."

The resolution to initiate proceedings to close off the entrance received unanimous support of council.

County Road?

Anson, Hindon and Minden Townships will be asking Haliburton County to assume responsibility for Horseshoe Lake Road.

HONDA GENERATORS

SILENT MIGHT.

Most generators can run an electric blanket. Here's one that lets you sleep at the same time. It's Honda's new EX650.

With a full 650 watts of power, it turns up the current but not the volume. In fact, its special fibreglass-lined aluminum and resin case and enclosed muffler reduce noise to just 58 dBA—about equal to normal conversation at 1 metre.

So it's ideal for camping, night work in built-up areas, or wherever you need a portable generator with a low noise level.

You can rest assured of the EX650's dependability, too, because like most of the 16 Honda generators, it uses a reliable four-stroke engine, CD electronic ignition, and Oil Alert to prevent damage if the oil runs low.

There's even a DC outlet to revive a dormant car battery.

Discover the joys of the EX650. Chances are you'll be singing its praises after just one silent night.

The Haliburton Hospital Expansion Fund received a boost to the tune of $1,000.00 when Kinmount's Taylor Pioneer Station presented the cheque last week. 'Keep hammering away' Fearrey urges council

Although he said it seems futile, Haliburton County Warden Murray Fearrey urged council to "continue hammering away" until something is done to protect the lake levels in the county.

Commenting on the control of the Trent-Severn Waterway that has seen area lake levels dropping by as much as eight feet this summer, Fearrey said it is not just the lakes that are affected. At last Wednesday's council meeting that he does not know of a dug well in the county that is still functioning now that the water table has dropped so low.

The lowered water levels in area lakes has been an issue of great concern all summer. Parks Canada has indicated that water levels are at their lowest point in at least 27 years and the outlook for a recovery this year is grim.

Councillor Harry Davis from Stanhope Township said people are well aware of the seriousness of the problem. He noted that 300 people lodged complaints at an open house put on by Acres International, which is doing a post audit study of the system.

Councillor Sinc Nesbitt, from Anson, Hindon and Minden Townships blamed the low water levels on the computerized control systems. He said he sees workers putting logs in the dams when it is obvious they should be taking them out.

"It's an easy thing to drop," said Fearrey, "but I think it's something we should continue to hammer." He hinted that Haliburton Lakes are being sacrificed to maintain strong levels in the Trent system. He called the Trent system "big business" with all the expensive boats that pass through.

Councillor Don Shortreed from Sherborne, McClintock et al agreed with Fearrey. "There's no way they're going to let that millions of dollars in the Trent go," he said.

While Parks Canada has indicated the cause of the low water is due to the shortage of rain and evaporation, Shortreed pointed out that lakes in Algonquin Park, which are not tied in with the Trent system, are barely down at all. "In Algonquin Park, inland lakes are not controlled and are not down near as much," he said.

County gets a good buy

It is encouraging to see the progressive attitude adopted by Haliburton County Council in its decision to purchase the abandoned CNR rail line at last Wednesday's meeting.

Haliburton would not have been the first to refuse such an inviting piece of property. With all the horror stories about costly liability claims, counties and municipalities across the province are scared to death of taking on any new property. Apparently Victoria County, which has the option to purchase the CNR line south of Kinmount is balking at the offer, largely because of the liability scare.

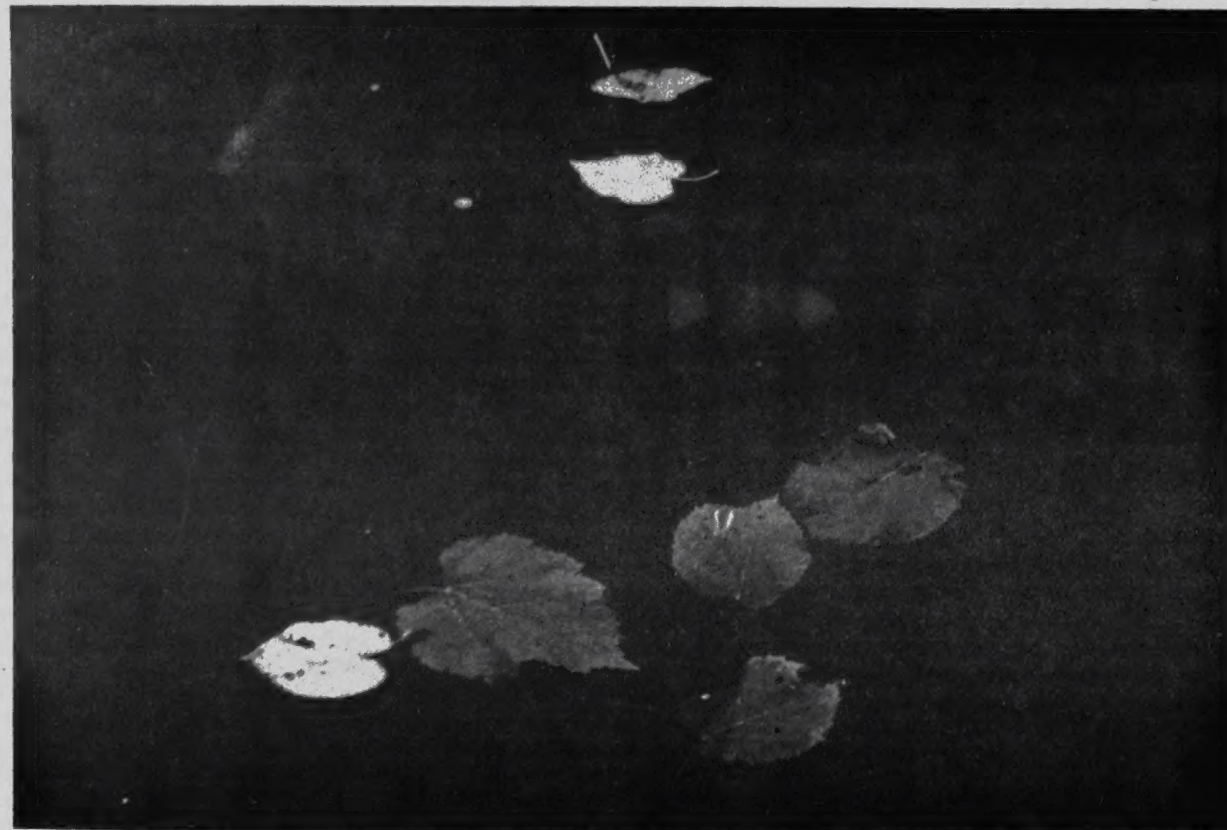

These expensive court settlements have become a fact of life in North America. However, there comes a point where we have to say the benefits are worth the risks. We cannot hide in our shells for ever.

It would have been so easy for the county to let this piece of property slip through its hands. Instead, all but two council members voted in favour of the purchase. And the two who voted against it based their decisions on matters other than the liability question.

Because of this courageous decision, Haliburton now has a 21 mile strip of prime recreational property that it can develop to serve a wide variety of purposes.

With so much stress being placed on improving the winter tourism draw to this area, the prospect of utilizing the property as a snowmobile route is a sure bet. It could also be used as a hiking trail, a trail for horseback riding, and of course, for dog sled racing.

While it remains to be seen what uses the county will permit on the property, the decision to buy has at least ensured it will be available for all considerations.

Drifting into autumn.

I wish to comment on 'Free Trade', the issue that people ask - "Is it good - for us?"

Free Trade means - One Market - where now there are two.

This means, those 275 million people next door, have the potential of selling something, up here.

That means, their large numbers, money strength, and existing production facilities, will make Canada, an Economic, American, domain.

Canadians will lose their freedom to speak as an 'International Friend', to countries of this world.

We will be a voice that is considered 'owned', by the American Dollar.

Free Trade is a Public Relations term, to inspire the feeling that - 'free' is 'good' ... This is a mistaken assumption. - If we were to make up our own minds - would we really sell everything - including the kitchen sink - for a Buck?

Dear Jack:

On behalf of John Eakins and the other members of our campaign, I would like to thank Russ and you for organizing the all-candidates debate in Minden. Traditionally the northern part of our riding has not hosted a debate during previous election campaigns. The large turn out indicated that the interest was there and your paper has filled a need. Many people I have talked to since were pleased at the format, Mr. Cox the moderator and the professionalism of the debate. I feel that the Minden Times has contributed positively to our democratic process. Hopefully this leadership in sponsoring a debate will continue in future campaigns.

The age of angst

- by Arthur Black -

We have nothing to fear but fear itself.

Franklin Delano Roosevelt

Actually, old FDR didn't know the half of it. Oh, we have people who are afraid of fear alright - Phobias, the doctors call them - but we also have Aero and Agro and Clino and Electro and Frigo and Claustrophobias.

Fears are very big these days. In fact it wouldn't be hard to argue that Fear, in all its manifold disguises, is the theme song of our times. Some pundits insist that we live in the Atomic Age, the Post Industrial Age, The Space Age or the Computer Age, but not for this cowboy. As far as I'm concerned the era we're embedded in should be dubbed The Age of Angst.

Great little word, angst. It comes from the German and means, according to my Funk and Wagnalls, "a continuous, vague feeling of anxiety or dread". I like the word because it sounds like its meaning. Say it out loud to yourself - Angst. You have to kind of screw up your mouth into a nervous little grimace just to get it out.

There's a lot of it going around. Life supplies everything from cency-weensy anxieties (potholes, middle-aged spread, Terminals One and/or Two of Pearson International Airport) that you can nibble your fingernails over in the comfort of your own parlour, to full-blown, galactic-sized terrors (AIDS, vanishing ozone, nuclear holocaust) that know no mortal boundaries.

But perhaps it was more of a mid-sized fret you were after? Relax, we have those too. How about our acid rain-ruined lakes? Soaring insurance rates? The deteriorating dollar? The Meech Lake Discord?

It's darned hard to get away from worry in this, the angst-ridden tail end of the twentieth century. Take exercise. One day I heard a medical expert on the radio warning me that by not exercising I was courting heart attacks, flabby thighs and various potentially fatal cardiovascular vexations. Fine. I went out and invested

Re: Bill Kulas' column in last week's paper.

Politicians by their very nature, regardless of country of origin will use any and everything to appear to have an advantage or superiority, but when it comes to international sport the true fan knows that he is sipping rare vintage champagne and frankly is not interested in any distantly related political ramifications. I can appreciate Harold Ballard's point of view, which, if he wasn't the owner of the Maple Leafs wouldn't mean a damn to the genuine sports fan.

I too am appalled by what's going on in South Africa, but by boycotting South African goods I am hurting all South Africans and the ones that would suffer the most would be the black South Africans; the very ones that have my sympathy.

Finally, if we were to ban the Russian national hockey team from playing in Canada but continued to play them in Russia, if I could afford it I would willingly travel to Russia to watch our great Canadian team play them and hopefully trounce them.

What do you think about...

Liberal party landslide win

- by Bill Kulas -

The champagne corks in London Centre, David Peterson's home riding, must have been popping into the wee hours after he and his party won a resounding victory. Of the 130 seats in our great Province, the Liberals easily captured 95, the N.D.P., who by the way are now the Province's official opposition party won 19, and the once mighty, "Big Blue Machine", was dealt a severe blow by the Ontario electorate as they only managed to capture 16 seats.

The 42-year reign of Tory government has been terminated and as David Peterson stated, no government in this province will ever again hold power for anywhere near that long a time frame again.

The Liberal government now has a four-year mandate ahead of them in order to provide good government as well as to keep our economy as strong as it has been for the past five years.

What this election has shown a great many is that party loyalty barely seems to exist. Traditional views, patience and tolerance are no longer the rule of the day. Government must now be sharper and more receptive to the will of the public. Government members are elected by the people to serve the people! The days of Trudeau and the one man show are long gone.

Let's hope that the media doesn't implement the vulture-like tactics on Peterson and his government as they have on Brian Mulroney's federal majority government. Don't get me wrong, government criticism is necessary but many times in the past some big-name Toronto newspapers have misused their editorial might.

As for our own riding it came as no surprise that John Eakins won handily. Mr. Eakins is a very honest, sincere and hard-working individual, a true gentleman in every sense of the word and a credit to his party.

As for the Conservative party, Larry Grossman's rise to power as leader contributed somewhat to the Tory fall. He did the only sensible thing by resigning and thus allow the party to rebuild. No doubt a leadership convention is in the not-too-distant future.

I was asked by a number of people in the area last week as to who I thought had a chance of winning the Conservative leadership. In my opinion a fella from Northern Ontario, who I had the pleasure of meeting a few years ago in Bobcaygeon, Mr. Alan Pope. He's a young, sincere, aggressive individual not to mention being an eloquent speaker. He regained his riding of Cochrane South in the election. Who knows, maybe four or five years from now we may have a Pope as Premier of Ontario! What do you think?

Despite a light drizzle, spirits were high at the annual Scenic Highway 35 Association Cornfest held Saturday evening at the Stanhope Community Centre. Head corn cook, Fritz Klepeis, offers a sample from his cauldron to youngsters Erin Givens and Patricia and Eric Freeman.

Trent-Severn report

The downward trend of the Haliburton area lakes continued reaching an average of 37.6 per cent by Tuesday, September 8. A modest rain fell that day and night over the area, but only very little change was noted. Rainfall again seemed to be heavier over the Kawartha Lakes area on this occasion as it has several times this summer, resulting in a restoration of much of the water lost there earlier.

The reserve lakes levels are now nearly 20 per cent below the 10-year average and lower than 1977 by 6.2 per cent, because much wetter conditions had already taken hold that year.

The dams in many cases are now set as they would normally be for the winter months and some are set even lower. When wet weather allows, Trent-Severn Waterway expects to return all these lakes to their normal winter log settings hopefully prior to freezing conditions.

Federation of Last week, as I was driving by a grassy area bordering a ravine, a handsome chestnut-brown bird rose noisily from the grass calling piercingly "kill-dee, kill-dee". As I watched, four more like the first flew up from the grass where they had been invisible to me. They were all killdeer plovers, our most widely-distributed and familiar shorebird.

Watchful and vocal, its persistent call at the approach of an intruder often alerts flocks of other shorebirds and sends them wheeling off in formation. Even without provocation it rarely fails to make its presence known by repeating its urgent call from which it gets both its common and scientific names, killdeer and vociferus.

A delight to the eye with its rich brown and white coat, white barred chest and forehead and lemon-orange rump and tail coverts, the irrepressible killdeer inspires positive feelings in the spectator. Although one might be forgiven for suspecting that all the killdeer's energies go into its call, it is actually a tireless consumer of insect pests, as well as worms, small amphibians and weed seeds.

The killdeer is one of the early returning migrants in the spring. On a day in late March when the sky is cloudless and the sun begins to suggest heat, we may hear with delight its two-note call from somewhere high in the ether. If we wait and listen,

The man with a bear in his basement

Irascible, profane, satirical, irreverent and generous. Curmudgeonly, cantankerous, funny and caring.

These are just a few of the words which spring to mind as I recall my contacts over the last eight years with Sam LaBarge. Sam, at 79, was laid to rest last Wednesday morning at the Minden Cemetery, a handful of friends and acquaintances there to bid him adieu.

Sam was not what one might call a model citizen. He drank too much, never hesitated to speak his mind, and delighted in poking fun at the foibles and conventions of the world. This approach to life often bewildered those who came in contact with him, leaving them to wonder how they should react to this small wiry man. Most decided they could not deal with an individual who obviously wasn't playing by the rules, and so they ignored him completely or had little to do with him. Those who did get to know him, found under that crusty exterior, an individual who was caring, sensitive and approachable.

The one thing that set Sam apart from the crowd was his humour. He possessed a well-honed wit which often left listeners wondering if they should take him seriously. But Sam appeared to enjoy playing the role of the jester, bring a smile, and occasionally a tear, to those who cared to listen and understand.

Stories about this man and his humorous exploits are legion. Just about everyone who came in contact with Sam has some tale to tell. The stories often seem too strange or outrageous to be true, often the embellishment of time seems to have been at work. But whenever a group of his acquaintances gathered, it was certain that each would have a contribution to make in recalling some incident in Sam's career.

One small example brought to mind the other day was jack's world

by editor & publisher Jack Brezina

the time Sam placed a classified ad in The Progress newspaper. Under the 'Wanted' heading, he announced that he was looking for a used Volkswagen radiator.

But the classic Sam LaBarge tale revolved around his "pet bear". Now this tale comes in a variety of settings and scenarios, but the ending is always the same.

The story begins as Sam befriends a number of strangers, usually in one of the local hotels. In the give and take of the conversation, he lets it be known that he has a pet bear at home. After a few drinks, and a few more references to this amazing specimen, he would invite the curious group back to his home to see the animal. His wife Millie was often a willing accomplice in this charade.

Arriving at his Deep Bay Road home, he would explain that while the bear was quite tame, it did have its 'off days'. After settling the visitors in the living room, Sam would descend to the basement to get the animal ready.

Needless to say, Sam did not have a bear in his basement. What he did have was a set of chains, a homemade device which could produce a sound identical to the roar of a bear, and a vivid imagination.

Once in the basement, Sam would act out, loud enough for the guests upstairs to hear, a scenario that involved him attempting to rouse the sleeping animal and coaxing it to climb the stairs. The chains rattled to indicate the animal was restrained, and a general commotion followed as Sam provided a discourse which played on the imagination of those seated above.

However, as the guests waited in anticipation to meet the bruin, what they heard from the basement was growing tension as Sam argued with his massive pet. The animal was obviously becoming more unruly all the time. This one-sided verbal exchange was punctuated by increasingly violent rattling of the chains, general chaos and the loud roar of an obviously agitated animal.

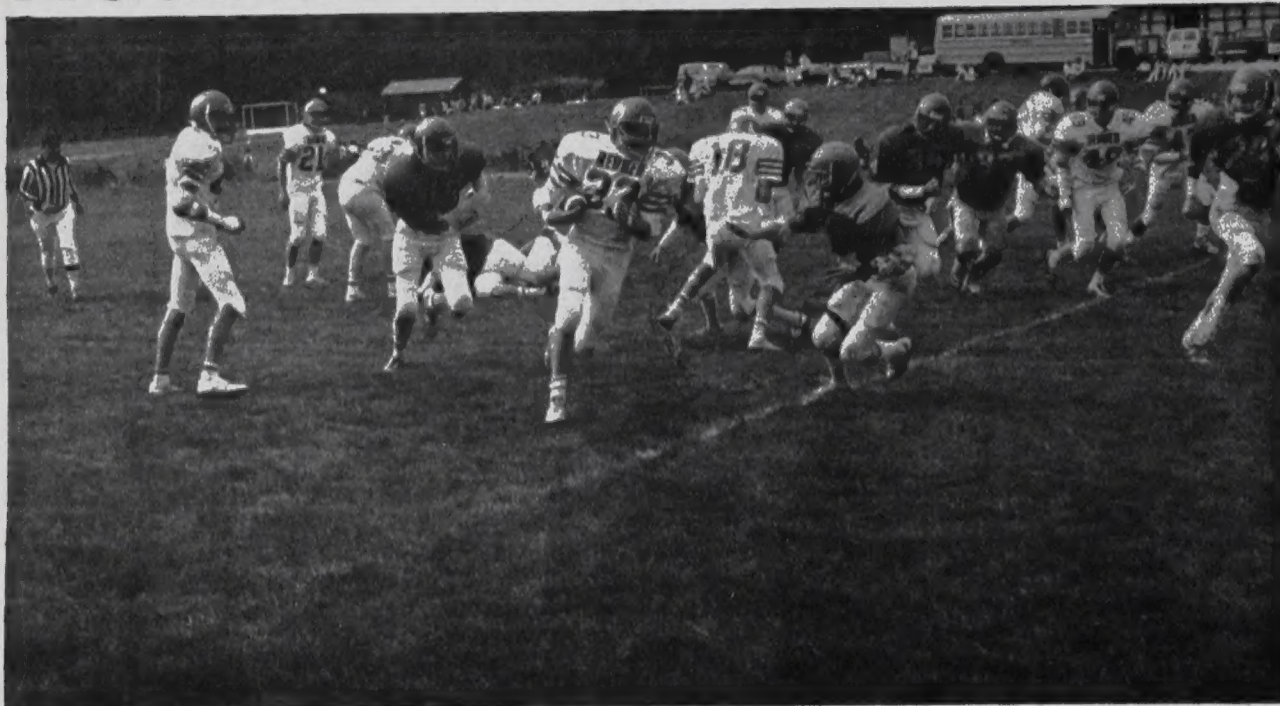

The climax to this scene came as Sam burst from the basement screaming for everyone to "run for their lives", the bear was loose and on the rampage. The result, of course, was the room cleared in a matter of seconds leaving behind Sam and Millie to savour the reward which comes to all practical jokers.

Sam, as I mentioned earlier, had a problem with alcohol, a situation, which often led him to confrontations with the police. More often than not, these "meetings" ended amicably.

In making plans for his funeral, Sam requested that members of the constabulary serve as his pallbearers - and, along with several close friends, they did so willingly last Wednesday. His last request contained that ironic twist of humour that ran like a thread through most of his life. These constables, who had "carried" him home so many times in the past, helped to carry him home one last time.

Everyone who came in contact with Sam LaBarge came away with lasting memories of this man who made us laugh - at the world around us, at himself and most importantly, I think, at ourselves. There are many words you can use to describe this man. For me, I'll take unforgettable.

Redmen start with 2 wins

Number 33, Jaro Cooper sweeps around the end for another first down as the Redmen conquer LCVI in last Friday's game.

Both Redmen football teams started the season on a winning note Friday afternoon defeating Lindsay Collegiate in back-to-back games played on home turf. The seniors downed the visitors 10-7 while the junior squad took their counterparts 20-7.

The Redmen were not only battling the visitors from Lindsay Friday afternoon. A stiff east to west wind played havoc with the ball anytime the play took to the air. On a number of occasions, attempts to pass went awry as the wind caught the ball, pushing it off course. Kicking into the stiff gusts was equally frustrating.

The Redmen seniors opened the scoring in the first quarter. After kicking off to the visitors, the Redmen defensive unit managed to contain the LCVI advance. Ron Perrin put his boot to the ball for a 40 yard single point. Later in the same quarter, Ron connected again to give the Redmen a 2-0 edge.

Before the quarter ended, quarterback Tom McLeod threw a 15 yard pass to Ron Perrin to put the Redmen on the LCVI goal line. On the next play, the signal-caller crashed through the line for the first TD of the game. Drew Mitchell kicked the convert for the Redmen.

There was no scoring in the second quarter, but the Redmen continued the pressure with interceptions from Drew Mitchell and Scott Russell. Inside line backers Mike Blake and Brad Archer helped to contain the LCVI advances.

In the third quarter, the Redmen offensive unit attempted a quick kick on a second down situation. The ball was fumbled and the visitors marched to the goal line for their only touchdown and conversion of the game.

The Redmen defensive unit frustrated any further scoring attempts by the Lindsay squad and helped set up another single from Ron Perrin.

Coach Gary Brohman was pleased with the opening game showing. "It was an important win for our team," he noted. "The LCVI team is likely the strongest in the league this year." He added that the Lindsay squad has been fed by championship junior teams over the past three years. "The team played well considering we have only had six practices," he concluded.

The coach noted the outstanding play of Ron Perrin, who not only accounted for the three single points, but also played on both defensive and offensive squads, and Mike Blake on the defensive team. Other defensive team players noted, included Paul Robinson, Rob Waller, Alan Rydman, Neil Graham and Ted Paish.

Junior contest

Junior team coach Tim Davies was pleased as well with the 20-7 victory of the team Friday. He noted the team had depth, with a strong group of linemen and powerful running backs.

HHSS juniors dominated the first half of the game scoring two touchdowns in the first quarter and one in the second. Steve Davis scored the first TD on a running play while the other two were credited to Corey Hynes, again on the ground. Jeff Ferro converted on the first and third TD to give the team the 20 point edge going into the second half.

The Lindsay points came in the fourth quarter.

Coach Davies named Corey Hynes and Steve Davis as outstanding offensive players. Noted for their play on the defensive squad were Brian Waller and Don Wullieme, along with linemen Mark Robinson and John Vuksic.

The Redmen travel to Fenelon Falls for their next game Friday afternoon. The seniors will play the first game.

Are you an arachibutyrophobic?

in a pair of sneakers, a track suit and a tricolour headband. But before I'd even worked up a decent glow there was another medical expert on the air warning that exercise can be dangerous to joints and cartilage and yes, even the heart itself. As if that's not enough there was a story in the news about some bald-headed jogger who returned from his morning run with blood running into his eyebrows. Cause? A seagull attack. Dunno if the bird thought the guy's head was a giant mutant egg or what, but it certainly gives all us bald-headed joggers something to think about.

When you get right down to it there is virtually no human activity that is absolutely un-fearful. Doctors have discovered that somebody, somewhere is mortally afraid of pretty well anything you can think of. They have unearthed people who are terrified of heights and depths; crowds and empty spaces; darkness and sunlight; going to bed and waking up. Some people are afraid of books; others of churches. Pogonophobics turn to jelly at the sight of a beard. Auroraphobics can't abide the sight of the Northern Lights.

Scared of snow? That's Chionophobia. Can't bear the way peanut butter sticks to the roof of your mouth? You're arachibutyrophobic. Believe it or not, there's even a substantial body of people wandering around who are utterly stricken by the sight of bangers and mash, the London Bridge, a double-decker bus, David Frost, the Queen Mum - anything that smacks of Britain. The

The Minden Figure Skating Club had two skaters (Andrea Pawluch and Cori Barkwell) attend the summer Figure Skating School in Woodville.

Test Day was held Friday, September 11, ending the summer program. Andrea Pawluch passed her Swing Dance which completes the Preliminary Dance Test, and Cori Barkwell passed her Willow Waltz, completing her Junior Bronze Dances.

Congratulations girls.

Yokel's revenge

- submitted -

In what was touted to be a super re-match, between local Bob Austin, and yokel Tom Boyce, on Wednesday at the Greater Local Yokel Golf Tournament held at Blairhampton, just didn't materialize.

Austin decided to leave a day early for his moose hunt, and thus evading the challenge of the visiting Boyce, who drove 450 miles for the match. Boyce feels at least a formal apology is forthcoming.

experts call such wretches Anglophobics.

Topophobia seems to be the single thing that frightens more people than anyone else - and I don't know anybody this side of Oral Roberts or Don Cherry who doesn't suffer from it to some degree. It's the fear of performing in public - stage fright, in a phrase.

And lest we forget let's all pause for a moment of silence to tribute to the world's poor beleaguered Panophobics. Panophobia is the fear ... of absolutely everything.

There is one other angst-engenderer that most of us scoff at publicly, but keep a wary, superstitious eye on whenever no one is looking. It's called Triskadekaphobia - the fear of the number 13.

If you're like me and tend to drive a little slower and look over your shoulder a lot on Friday the 13th, don't be ashamed of it. We're in great company.

The famous musical composer Arnold Schoenberg was perhaps the biggest Triskadekaphobic ever to pull a blanket over his head. Schoenberg feared and avoided anything or any combination of things that could add up to 13, and for many years he told anyone who would listen that he would surely die at the age of 58, 67, 76 or 85. Why? Because those numbers each add up to 13, that's why.

The odd thing is, Schoenberg did die at the age of 76. He died at 13 minutes before midnight.

On a Friday the 13th.

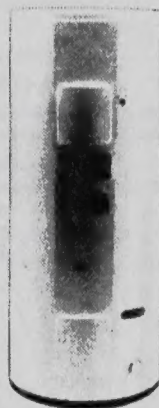

Almost enough to make you feel a little bit umm... well, angsty.

They're exhausted, but their hot water supply isn't.

Members of the Rotary Clubs of Minden, Haliburton and Fenelon Falls had an opportunity to hear from five young professionals from England who are travelling through Rotary District 701. The five are members of a group study exchange team who are spending five weeks in the area to learn more about the economy, culture and values in this part of Canada. A similar group from this district will travel to England early next year to complete the exchange. The District 701 team will be an all-female contingent. Seen addressing the joint Rotary Club meeting at Wig-a-mog Inn September 14 is Peter Wass of High Wycombe, Buckinghamshire, England. Others at the head table include, from the left, District Governor nominee Tom De Geer of Fenelon Falls, Minden Rotary Club President Peter Bennett, Alain Thibault group study exchange team leader, also from High Wycombe and president-elect of the Haliburton Rotary Club, Don Popple.

Straight 'A' report card for Highlands' chamber

The Haliburton Highlands Chamber of Commerce has had a successful year in terms of publicizing the county, Shirley Rapson, chamber manager, told county council last Wednesday.

In her year-end "report-card", Rapson said the various chamber departments rate an A-plus for the work they have carried out.

In an attempt to publicize the local attractions outside the county, the chamber has set up booths at about seven different trade shows this year. Rapson said the effectiveness of this sort of promotion is evident in the number of bookings at resorts this year. While she feels this effort is a proven success, she says it can be improved upon with a new booth for the displays.

While she admits there were some problems identified with the brochure put out by the Central Ontario Travel Association (COTA), she said these are being addressed.

This year the COTA guide will be accepting only national advertising, she said. Therefore, it will not be in competition for local ads. In response to an increased demand for the guides, she said there will be 100,000 printed this year, as compared to 35,000 last year.

From a shaky beginning, Rapson says the winter publication has developed into a solid brochure, which includes all the local events. She says this has been successful in increasing the number of winter visitors to the county.

Rapson also notes that an article in a leading snowmo-biling magazine also produced some good results. After the article was published, she said the chamber was averaging 10 letters each day for information from the U.S.

One of the new responsibilities being assumed by the chamber will be for issuing motor vehicle licences in Minden. She said the chamber does not expect to make any extra income from the licence sales, but it will increase the office staff at no extra cost. She said the person who will be hired for issuing licences will likely do chamber work about 25 per cent of the time.

Safety on buses

In addition to learning the basics, students at Archie Stouffer Elementary School were learning the bus safety rules from Minden OPP Constable Mike Maybee. Shown in the photograph to the right, Maybee helps a grade 2 student climb out of the emergency exit at the rear of the bus. Below, Maybee briefs the students on safe bus riding using the bus as a classroom. Drivers should also be aware of laws regarding school buses. When flashing lights are seen on the bus, automobiles in both directions are required to come to a full stop. Maybee encourages drivers to be extra cautious whenever driving near a school bus.

Housing study grant sought

Haliburton County Council will be applying for a $10,000 grant on behalf of the Social Service Committee for a county-wide housing study.

Jude King, who was on hand at last Wednesday's council meeting, said she has been in touch with one consultant who has indicated the survey can be done for $10,000, which is the maximum provincial grant available.

Councillor Sine Nesbitt from Anson, Hindon and Minden Townships said the price seems small for such a large-scale survey. He wondered how in-depth the study would be for that price and suggested that the consultant should pick up we will finally discern two specks tumbling out of the sky. The pair of killdeer will fall rapidly, calling all the while, finally landing with a rush on a patch of open ground. When they first return in the spring, a pair of killdeer may spend a good part of their time in the air wheeling about following one another, calling all the time.

When they do settle down to nest, early in May, they will not make a nest as tree-nesting birds do, but simply place the eggs in a shallow depression in the ground among pebbles or bits of stick. Apparently killdeer actually move pebbles into the nesting cavity. With the pebbles as background, the dark mottled eggs blend so completely that they are invisible until one is about to step on them.

There have been many records of killdeer nesting on flat gravelled roofs, but this spring a killdeer decided to nest on a gravel driveway in my area. The householder immediately blocked off all traffic to the driveway so that the nesting bird would not be disturbed. After a week of anxious watching, he telephoned the F.O.N. to ask how long he would be deprived of the use of his driveway before the chicks hatched. Since incubation takes 24 to 25 days, he resigned himself to closing off his driveway for several more weeks.

Once the young have hatched, the parents will clear away all traces of egg shell from the nest, and, as soon as their down is dry, lead the youngsters away. So perfectly camouflaged are the chicks and so trained to remain motionless when threatened, that I have almost stepped on one, incredulous and amused to see a tiny replica of the parent, except that it had only one chest band.

If the nest or young are threatened by humans or predators the killdeer parents work as a team. One will give the warning to the bird on the nest, then, circling around, it will land near the intruder, crying in distress, spreading one wing across its back and dragging the other along the ground. Keeping up a continuous cry, the killdeer, apparently in great pain, will lead the intruder away from the nest. When it has coaxed the intruder far enough, it resumes its normal gait and speeds off.

Listen for the killdeer this fall and take time to observe it. Gregarious, handsome and resourceful, it will soon become a favourite whose appearance you will welcome.

Board creates new position

The Haliburton County Board of Education has agreed to create a senior position within the administration.

Following a committee of the whole discussion at the August board meeting, the trustees voted to expand the post of curriculum co-ordinator to one of Superintendent of Education. The new post would be effective September 1988 when the temporary position of curriculum co-ordinator was due to end.

Director of education, Stuart Baker, said that while the board has yet to create a job description for the new position, part of the responsibility for the new post would include educational curriculum across the county.

The individual holding the position, must have supervisory officer qualifications.

The board is expected to develop the description of the position during the next few months.

Board approval for the position came on a recorded vote which saw three trustee oppose the action. Those voting against the action was Bicroft Cardiff trustee Linda Mumford, Haliburton trustees Joan Sawyer and Wayne Wood.

Hi Readers! Another damp cool day, but Indian Summer will soon be here.

We are glad to see Tessa Davis home from the hospital. Sure hope she will soon be well again.

The ladies from the Anglican Church brought the lunch on Thursday for afternoon tea. It was lovely. The singing afterward was enjoyed very much.

On Friday afternoon we were entertained by Mrs. Coburn and Jean Cox. Wednesday evening we had the Earl Coopers. We always enjoy entertainment like this.

Jeanette Lywood called on me one day last week. Mary O'Toole had her son John to see her on Friday. Winnie had her niece from Singapore who is a Missionary, visit with her on Sunday.

I am glad to report Mrs. Burgess is coming along nicely and able to get around again.

On Friday night we had Mr. Payne, Mr. Deacon and George Smith here to entertain us.

Those having birthdays in September are: Isabella Eastman, Gladys Kirkpatrick, Maron Rose, Mary

At the Tuesday Luncheon Euchres at Wagon Wheel last week, winners were Hilda Rush, Alice Sedgwick, Lloyd Sedgwick and door prize Agnes Mullins. For reservations for next games on September 29th call Nelda at 286-2872 or Muriel at 286-2733.

As the years went by On occasions too numerous We met Sam and Millie on the fly. But they always got my attention. Now both are gone But our memories linger on.

All best wishes go to Beulah Hewitt who is in Ross Memorial following surgery.

Oliver, and William Moore. We wish them many happy returns.

Our service in the chapel Sunday evening was taken by Rev. John Burgess and on Tuesday morning by Rev. Moll of United Church.

Doris took a bus load west to Seabright to see the coloured leaves. They will be much better next week.

Mr. Simpson had his daughter Gladys Swayne from Cobourg visit him on Wednesday afternoon. I had my two daughters Anna Gordon and Jean Hewitt come on Tuesday to take me out to lunch and then for a drive around to see the coloured leaves. The dry weather no doubt is the cause of the trees not being their nicest. I enjoyed it all very much anyway. All till next week.

If many things you can't do, I wouldn't grieve a lot. Maybe you are born to ease the load. Of some OLD person down the road.

We are very glad to have Mr. and Mrs. Murray Davis back again to play and sing for us.

Institute celebrates 80th

Saturday, September 12th was a special day for Minden Women's Institute as they celebrated their 80th anniversary. Many ladies were present from the Branches of Victoria East District, Minden members and some Mindenites, at the Library Cultural Centre. Our President, Mrs. C. Lacey welcomed them and then O Canada, opening, ode, Mary Stewart Collect and W.I. Grace followed.

There were many cards, letters and a plaque of congratulations from Ontario and Federal governments. After this, all enjoyed a cup of tea or coffee and lunch. Special note was when our Senior Life Member Mrs. Harry Welch cut the nicely decorated 80th birthday cake and all enjoyed some of that. Ladies from other branches expressed good wishes and thanks for a good time and included were Mrs. C. W. Adams, and Mrs. A. Griffin, Victoria East District President and Secretary and Mrs. M.

Robson, Past District President. The ladies were also very happy at seeing the fine artwork on display in the Common Room and Gallery. The curator, Mrs. Sears, had a display of the Tweedsmuir Books and also some pictures of Past Presidents. Our village people, however, were few but we were pleased to see those who came out, including some ladies from Hyland Crest.

Charter night

Kobolak. He stressed that the value of the organization is in its people. "As you accept this charter, you are the people," he said. The 62 Legion members are the real strength in the organization.

After accepting the charter, Samarillo raised his hand in victory, saying, "Minden Legion, we finally made it." Samarillo thanked the district members for all the guidance and advice which helped bring this night about. "There are no words to express how I feel when I see such a large gathering for this historic occasion," he said.

District Commander Ken Jeffries was given a standing ovation when he said "Branch 636 Minden is the newest branch and we are very proud of them." He said the formation of the Minden branch brings the total number of branches in District F to 55. Minden is the 13th Legion branch to become part of Zone F-4. Commenting on the large gathering for the event, Jeffries said he is pleased to see such a community effort.

"It shows a great deal of enthusiasm from the community."

Although neither Victoria MP Bill Scott nor MPP John Eakins was able to attend the charter night, both sent greetings and congratulations. Greetings were also received from George Hees, the Minister for Veterans Affairs.

On behalf of Haliburton County and of Dysart et al townships, Murray Fearrey also congratulated the Minden Legion. "This is a banner day for Minden and it's making history once again in Haliburton County," he said.

To help the Minden branch get started, Legion branches from all around the area made presentations of gifts and cash. The Whitby branch donated a complete place setting for 130. Legion branches from Kinmount, Omeme, Lindsay, Beaverton, Brechin, Bobcaygeon and Sunderland all donated cash to the building fund. Other gifts included a gavel, the Canada colours to be worn in parades and an Ontario flag.

sewer to attend the first and last meeting of each month. At the first meeting, they will be required to report on their plans for the month. And at the last meeting, they will be required to give a report on the progress made on those plans.

Councillor Bern Berry said the new policy has merit. "Council makes resolutions and expects they will be carried out by the section heads," he said. This will allow council to check up on the work.

Because the county will be receiving the grant on behalf of the committee, consultants' costs would be paid out by the county. Warden Murray Fearrey said that under these circumstances payments should be made only upon the completion of each phase of the study.

Because King had only contacted one consultant for the study, Councillor Don Shortreed from Sherborne, McClintock et al urged that several quotes be obtained before choosing a firm. This was agreed upon.
